1.0 BACKGROUND/SUMMARY

The City is seeking to provide self-service access for customers to obtain clear, complete, and consistent information, tailored to their exact location and project. The City anticipates this will significantly reduce the ambiguity customers face when creating a new business, renovating their home, or planning a public event. Providing customers with 24/7 access to this information via a software platform is expected to result in allowing staff more time to process submitted permit applications, resulting in faster turnaround times.

Individuals starting a small business or renovating their home may find navigating the City's regulatory environment to be a daunting task. Customers must frequently obtain permits and/or licenses from multiple City departments, each with its own set of code requirements and processes. These individual processes may meet departmental needs, but often are not designed with the customer in-mind, and do not account for the multiple sets of requirements that customers frequently need to navigate. As a result, the customer's experience can be a disjointed, confusing, and sometimes redundant process involving multiple City departments and outside agencies.

The intent of this project is to provide a software tool for City customers, designed to streamline the process from their perspective, providing simple, comprehensive, and consistent information on the multiple City requirements pertaining to their specific location/project/business. This is achieved by the customer answering a series of questions which typically takes 5-10 minutes to complete, and results in a summary of all necessary requirements.

From the responses received from this Solicitation, the City's project team intends to begin the analysis of product functionality and ensure that the best product is selected to meet City customer needs. Several software platforms have already provided demonstrations:

- OpenCounter
- Camino
- Accela Premium Citizen Experience
- Gray Quarter G-Wiz

AskStockton was considered for this purpose but has been ruled out due to limited functionality compared to the platforms identified above.

CURRENT CONDITIONS FOR PROJECT

The following are the current conditions for this project:

- No comprehensive set of regulatory requirements available for customers, tailored to their specific location and business/goal/project
- Information is spread across multiple departments/divisions, websites, checklists, and physical locations. A complete set of requirements must frequently be determined through discussion with staff.
- Access to staff to answer questions and provide information is restricted to business hours and staff capacity. Phone calls and emails may take several days to be returned.
- Specialized terminology across Stockton Municipal Code sections requires translation of the code into common and accessible terms for customers.

Significant staff time is spent answering variations of the same questions with customers researching what is allowed and required for their project

2.0 SCOPE OF SERVICES

Proponent shall provide a proposal for a software solution meeting the capabilities outlined below:

Desired Software Capabilities

- Through a series of scenario-specific questions and location specific information, provide a comprehensive set of requirements and information encompassing Business Licensing, Building Permits, Planning Permits, Engineering Permits, Fire Permits, non-City requirements necessary for these items such as SJ County Environmental Health Permits, and information on relevant incentive/support programs
- Functionality to translate and match common search terms with applicable sections and related categorization of the Stockton Municipal Code
- Provide Fee estimates
- Appropriate levels of IT Security
- Ongoing maintenance and support for system updates, including annual fee changes and periodic SMC updates
