STOCKTON, Calif. – The City of Stockton Office of Violence Prevention (OVP) will be sharing information about the work they do and the positive steps they take toward reducing violent crime in our community. Data Café will be held Monday, November 7, 2022, at 3:00 p.m. at Arnold Rue Community Center, 5758 Lorraine Ave. This public presentation will focus on actual program data and outcome statistics. All members of the community are welcome and encouraged to attend. This meeting is open to anyone interested in violence reduction.

“Data Cafe will provide an informative welcoming event to keep the community up-to-date on the efforts the Office of Violence Prevention is taking to help reduce violence in the City,” said Director Lora Larsen. “The more we share about violence reduction strategies, the more at-risk individuals we can help with creating better lives for themselves, their families, and the community.”
